

Using the management app for Android Intro v1

Learning what you can do with the management app

Once you have launched in for the first time and the index of animals is built, you can minimally customize the app. Select Settings from the menu (upper right corner of the screen) and choose which animal status should be displayed each time you start the app. For instance, you might want to select Intake, Available, Pending, Hold, and Treatment.

You can use the app on location from any Android device to:

- Display pictures
- Edit animal information and enter microchip information
- Upload pictures
- Add journal entries
- Search for animals and filter the animal list
