

Getting Started with RescueGroups.org home page

Welcome to RescueGroups.org, and welcome to your new service or services with us. We hope to help you through the learning curve.

This Getting Started guide is meant to familiarize you with our services and how everything is organized and accessed in your account. We have a chapter about your account administration - your organization's contact information, your invoices, and other topics related to your account.

From here, you can go to the individual user guides (found below) that will help you understand each service. So, welcome aboard!
